THE FULBRIGHT PROGRAM

The flagship international educational exchange program sponsored by the U.S. government, widely known as the Fulbright Program, is designed to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and those of other countries. With this goal as a starting point, the Fulbright Program has provided more than 300,000 participants—chosen for their leadership potential—with the opportunity to observe each other’s political, economic and cultural institutions, exchange ideas and embark on joint ventures of importance to the general welfare of the world’s inhabitants.

The Fulbright Program was established in 1946 under legislation introduced by former Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas. The Fulbright Program is administered by the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the United States Department of State.

Since the establishment of the Program, 46,800 Fulbright Visiting Scholars have conducted research or taught in U.S. universities, and more than 45,200 Fulbright U.S. Scholars have engaged in similar activities abroad. The Fulbright Program awards approximately 800 grants to Visiting Scholars each year. Currently, the Program operates in approximately 155 countries worldwide.

The primary source of funding for the Fulbright Program is an annual appropriation made by the United States Congress to the Department of State. Participating governments and host institutions in foreign countries and in the United States also contribute financially through cost-sharing and indirect support, such as salary supplements, tuition waivers and university housing.

The J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board (FFSB), composed of 12 educational and public leaders appointed by the President of the United States, formulates policy for the administration of the Program, establishes criteria for the selection of candidates and approves candidates nominated for awards.

The United States Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs, develops policies to assure fulfillment of the purposes of the Program and administers it with the assistance of binational educational commissions and foundations in some 50 countries that have executive agreements with the United States for continuing exchange programs, United States embassies in 90 other countries and a number of cooperating agencies in the United States.

Binational commissions and foundations propose the annual program plan for exchanges, in consultation with participating universities and organizations in the host country. They also screen, interview, and recommend to the FFSB qualified candidates for student and faculty grants under their exchange programs. In a country without a commission or foundation, the Public Affairs Section of the U.S. Embassy develops the program and supervises it locally.

The Council for International Exchange of Scholars (CIES), under a cooperative agreement with the Department of State, administers the Fulbright Junior Faculty Development Program for Egypt. CIES is a division of the Institute of International Education (IIE) and has close working relationships with the major disciplinary bodies in the humanities, social sciences and natural sciences. During the terms of their program in the United States, Fulbright Junior Faculty Development Program grantees are assisted by IIE/CIES.

The Fulbright Junior Faculty Development Program for Egypt and General Requirements

OVERVIEW OF THE FULBRIGHT JUNIOR FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR EGYPT

The mission of the Fulbright Junior Faculty Development Program for Egypt is to increase mutual understanding between the people of the United States and people of Egypt. It aims to provide educational exchange experiences to a maximum number of individuals not previously afforded such an opportunity. The experience should be of intrinsic value to the scholar, the recipient's home institution, its faculty and its students, as well as to the U.S. host institution. Fulbright grantees serve as cultural ambassadors and should be prepared to speak about their countries, cultures and research to academic and community groups.

The Program has provided thousands of scholars with the opportunity to establish professional contacts in their field and make long-lasting friendships with colleagues in the United States; to develop collaborative research relationships with U.S. scholars; and to enhance their scholarly publications and other contributions with research conducted in the United States. For many faculty, the Fulbright Program offers an opportunity to pursue scholarly work without interruption. By doing research, guest teaching, and pursuing other scholarly interests in a completely different environment, scholars return home personally invigorated and professionally stimulated.

ELIGIBILITY REQUIREMENTS FOR APPLICANTS TO THE FULBRIGHT JUNIOR FACULTY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM FOR EGYPT

You must possess all of the following qualifications in order to be eligible unless specific exemptions are stated by the Binational Fulbright Commission in Egypt (hereafter called "Fulbright organization").

- Citizenship or permanent resident status qualifying you to hold a valid passport issued in Egypt. Persons selected for a Fulbright grant will be required to submit a copy of their passport data page to the Fulbright organization. Persons applying for or holding permanent residence in the United States are not eligible. Persons who are citizens of both a partner country and the United States are also ineligible. Fulbright grantees enter the United States on an Exchange Visitor (J-1) visa under a U.S. Department of State program and are subject to the two-year home-country residency requirement associated with the J-1 visa.
- MA/MS degree and at least five years of university-level teaching experience or a Ph.D. and no more than five years of teaching experience. MA/MS holders who are currently enrolled in a doctoral program must possess at least three years of teaching experience. A detailed project statement of proposed activity addressing all components outlined in the instructions detailed below and relating to the cohort discipline to which you are applying. Cohort disciplines include:
  - Public Health
  - Renewable Energy and Engineering
  - TEFL/Linguistics

- Proficiency in English sufficient to effectively carry our grant activities in the United States. You may be required to take an English proficiency examination or submit a TOEFL score.
- Available to travel to the U.S. and participate for the duration of the program, July 5 – September 13, 2017
- Sound physical and mental health. Those selected for a Fulbright grant are required to submit a Medical History and Examination Report before their grants can be finalized.

In addition, you should note the following conditions affecting review and selection of candidates:

- Applicants will be considered without regard to race, religion, sex, age, and/or physical impairment.
- Preference is given to those without recent experience in the United States.
- Applicants should be representative and responsible citizens who can contribute to a full and fair picture of the culture of their own countries and thereby contribute to understanding between the people of the United States and their country. They should also demonstrate the cross-cultural sensitivity and flexibility needed to adjust successfully to life in the United States.

Grants are not for the principal purpose of:

- Attending conferences
- Completing doctoral dissertations
- Travel and consultation at multiple institutions, or
- Clinical medical research involving patient contact

APPLICATION AND REVIEW PROCESS

- You must submit your application by the deadline set by the Fulbright organization.
- Initial screening and endorsement of a scholar's application are done by the Fulbright organization.
- The application is then forwarded to IIE/CIES and the U.S. Department of State by the Fulbright organization. Final selection for all grants is made by the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board.
- You will be notified by the Fulbright organization if you are selected, based on the timeline set by that organization. Before a grant can be confirmed, a Medical History and Examination Report is required and will be reviewed by appropriate personnel.
- It is the policy of the J. William Fulbright Foreign Scholarship Board not to give to individual applicants, to others inquiring on their behalf, or to the public generally, the specific reasons for selection or non-selection of applicants for awards under the program, to the extent not required to do so as a matter of law.

Preparing the Fulbright Junior Faculty Development Program for Egypt Application

FIRST STEPS

- Planning ahead—Advance planning will give you as much time as possible to put together a thoughtful and compelling application. Applicant review and final selection are based upon the actual application and accompanying materials.
- Consulting with colleagues—You are encouraged to consult with current or former Fulbright grantees from your own country or the United States. Fulbright alumni and current participants can provide valuable guidance in formulating a competitive project statement.

GENERAL APPLICATION GUIDELINES

- At the time of application, you must submit the following: (a) application form; (b) detailed project statement; (c) detailed curriculum vitae; (d) and three reference letters.
- To ensure correct completion of the application, carefully read the detailed instructions provided in these guidelines.
- All items must be in English.
- The entire application must be submitted online. Use 10-point or larger font on all parts of the application.
- Responses to questions on application must adhere to established character limits.
- You may not attach additional pages to answer these questions.
- Proofread the entire application before submitting it. The application should be free of grammatical and spelling errors.
- Treat the application as a unitary whole, with all parts reinforcing the project statement. The flow should be orderly: your capabilities should be listed in the application, further documented in the curriculum vitae and confirmed in the references. Use the project statement to make the parts interact by referring to items in the curriculum vitae. Without being redundant or simplistic, you should make it easier for the reviewer to find the key pieces of information you wish to convey.

COMPLETING THE APPLICATION FORM

SIGNATURE

- To electronically sign the application form, please type in your first and last name and the date.

The Project Statement

The project statement is the most important component of the Fulbright application. Scholars with the most compelling, theoretically sound, well-written, feasible proposals are generally recommended for awards. Sometimes those with outstanding professional achievements assume that a brief, general project statement will be sufficient; it is not. To ensure a competitive application, your proposed project, as well as the strategy for completing it, should be thoroughly explained in three to five single-sided pages.

Submit a detailed project statement of no more than five single-spaced pages (3,500 words).

FORMAT

- Do not exceed the character limit of the proposal. Including irrelevant or extraneous material may divert attention from the project statement.
- Begin the project statement with your name, country and the discipline-based cohort to which you are applying at the top of page one. At the top of each subsequent page, type your name and country.
- Organize your proposal in order of the following points, which appear in bold print, and use them as headings for sections of text in your statement.
  - Explain how participation in the program will benefit not only you, but also others (students, department, and administrators) at your university.
  - Which elements of faculty development and/or academic capacity building do you hope to concentrate on during your grant? (e.g. curriculum development, assessment, educational leadership, educational administration, academic governance, use of technology in the classroom, new methods/research tools in your field, etc.) Explain why.

- How do you plan to implement what you learn through participation in the program upon your return home?
  - Explain the specializations or research interests within your broader academic field that you would like to explore through collaboration with U.S. faculty during your grant.
  - What do you aspire to learn about American society and culture? Similarly, which aspects of your own culture, history, and background do you wish to share with American faculty and others in the community where you will be living?

The Curriculum Vitae

The curriculum vitae describes academic credentials and demonstrates a record of scholarly achievements (document should not exceed six pages). When composing a curriculum vitae, it is important to include:

- Education (universities attended, degrees earned and dates received)
- Professional positions held
- Courses taught and other services provided to students and the home institution
- Publications (provide full citations and list them starting with the most recent)
- Other professional activities, such as workshops, seminars and consultations
- Membership and activities in professional associations
- Professional honors, awards and fellowships
- Community service

The application asks for similar information, but provides limited space for answers. In the curriculum vitae, you should expand upon these topics to present more completely your accomplishments.

Note: Copies of diplomas are not typically required, but you should confirm with the Fulbright organization in your home country whether they are required.

Supplemental Materials

English Language Proficiency

- If available, you may upload English Language Proficiency test and/or TOEFL here.

Financial Support/Budget

- This documentation is not required for your program; please proceed to the next page.

J-1 or J-2 Visa (DS-2019)

- If you have previously entered the United States on a J-1 or J-2 visa, please provide copies of your previous DS-2019(s). Note: Dependents are not permitted to accompany Fulbright scholars for this program; therefore you do not need to submit dependent copies of J-1 or J-2 visas.

Letter of Support from Home Institution

- This documentation is not required for your program; please proceed to the next page.

Passport Copy

- Please upload a copy of the photo identification page of your current passport.

Reference Reports

Candid, frank reference reports or letters of reference help reviewers place your research or teaching proposal within your home institution's current conditions and plans for growth. References also provide evidence of your reputation within your discipline. The Reference Report Form in the application packet suggests qualifications that your referees should address.

- You must submit three references. Do not submit more than three references.
- Please provide your referees a copy of your project statement.
- References should be from people qualified to evaluate your professional work; the abilities you bring to the proposed project; your ability to adapt to another country and culture; and the merits of the project itself.
- References can come from your home institution, but at least one of the references should be from a colleague in your field outside your home institution.
- If you have recently moved to a new home institution, one of the reference letters should be from your previous institution.
- Choose your referees carefully and contact them early. The letters of recommendation need to accompany the application as it could otherwise be weakened by an insufficient number of references.
- Do not ask someone for a letter of reference unless the person is well acquainted with your qualifications. A pro forma letter from a well-known scholar, a contact abroad or a prominent government official will carry less weight than a realistic assessment of your abilities from someone who knows you and your work well.
- References must be written in or translated into English.
- Reference letters should be submitted through the online application system. Consult the Fulbright organization in your country of application whether alternative means of submission are acceptable.
- It is your responsibility to ensure that reference reports are submitted by the deadline.
