

Fulbright Specialists Program

Curriculum Vitae Guide

Instructions:

The curriculum vitae content submitted for the Fulbright Specialists roster application should be tailored to present your academic and professional experience and strengths for the selected discipline and specialization, as well as convey your potential contributions to this program.

Do not include family details, personal or office contact information, web links, a list of contacts for additional references, explanations for changes in employment or salary information.

As a reminder, Specialists work with colleagues at non-U.S. post-secondary academic institutions. In the C.V., eligible professionals and artists outside academe must highlight the qualifications that reflect: (1) experience as a college/university teacher or trainer; and/or (2) how the experience could benefit foreign academic institutions.

The length of the curriculum vitae should be no more than five pages. Please note that special formatting will not transfer into the online application (e.g. bullets and indents, tabs, bold, underlined, or italicized text) and the English translation must be provided for any citations listed in a foreign language. For space consideration, separate each item with a semicolon or number rather than a hard return for the different headings or sections as needed. Finally, do not list web links.
