The Fulbright Program

- Established 1946 to expand and strengthen the relationships between the people of the United States and citizens of the rest of the world.
Scholar-In-Residence Program

- Brings scholars and professionals from abroad to campuses that do not often host visiting scholars
- Involves colleges and universities that serve student populations underrepresented in international exchange programs
- S-I-R grantees
  - Primarily teach undergraduates
  - Provide cross-cultural/international perspective
- Application is made by the interested U.S. institution
  - 1 semester or full academic year options
- Deadline is October 15; Email: sir@iie.org
Program Benefits: Increased Mutual Understanding and Globalization

- Host institution gains new knowledge, new courses and new energy from scholar
- Scholar’s collaborative relationship with host institution and colleagues in-country results in continued dialogue and exchange
- Experience impacts scholar’s field, career, home institution and home community

Outcomes and Impact:
- Internationalizing campus and curriculum
- Education Abroad program
- Virtual Exchange/online courses
- MOU initiatives
- Etc.

Northwest College Wyoming Opportunities and Challenges

Opportunities
- Internationalize the campus and community
- Internationalize the curriculum
- Events and programming
- Increased visibility of your program

Challenges
- Collaboration with a department or division – this will also help strengthen your application
- Getting the whole campus on the same page (HR, computer services, housing, etc.)
- Communication – there needs to be pre-arrival communication between the scholar, the institution, and Fulbright
- Look at your need as an institution – what do you want your scholar to accomplish?
Northwest College Wyoming Scholar Activities

Ways to Internationalize the Residency for Community Colleges

- Engage the scholar in as many College activities as realistically possible. As much as in the beginning I didn’t like that I did not get one class of my own to teach, I think the idea of visiting different classes and offering lectures in them helped me to reach many more students than I would have if I had concentrated in teaching only one class. I was able to reach students in Gender and communication, Anthropology- with a focus on Africa, the creative writing class, and two other English 2000 level classes where I taught different aspects of African literature.

- Scholars should give presentations about their areas of expertise. I found this to be a very good way of engaging with the community in a more relaxed manner where people get to ask questions and interact with me freely.

- Scholars should engage in intercultural activities- I cooked, modeled and talked about Uganda and the East African/ African women.

- I think being open minded is one very positive way of handling residency in a rural setting. You will not find too many of the fancy amenities that is there in big cities. But you will also discover some of the greatest things you can only find in small towns.
Travel grant for Fulbright Visiting Scholars already in the U.S. for short-term guest teaching

Institutionally driven application by U.S. Host Institutions

Scholars can meet, lecture and exchange ideas with faculty and students, community organizations, and K-12 schools that have a special interest in international relations and exchange ideas.
